Our Vision is a global and incisive third sector able to produce both social change within "the system", community development, social cohesion, qualified employment for youth. A Third Sector focused not only on present problems, but also and more importantly dedicated to planning the future as a policy makers.

A third sector with the ability to involve and activate civil society, starting with today's youth; but also able to confront "the big players", such as governments and institutions, banks and multinationals, companies and foundations.

Focus on Social Business School

Social Business School (SBS), as well as ASVI within TSM, will operate both at a national and international level, its aim is to become a Social Business in itself, being inspired by the “project” as a leverage for social change

The SBS’s objectives are

- giving the opportunity to be trained on Social Business to people who live in developing countries and disadvantaged conditions (geographical areas and social status)
- spreading the Social Business’ principles among young manager & entrepreneurs
- training the best/creative ‘social business managers’ and professionals
- promoting their application both in profit and no-profit sectors
- studying the best Social Business practices and their outcomes
- being a “meeting point” between the profit and no-profit sectors to develop Social Business in Italy, Spain, UK and the Mediterranean area (north Africa)

Facilitate a cultural change in the NGOs traditional approaches and strategies in Europe.

So we would like to invite Mr. Yunus to Rome next spring for an international congress with representatives of Italian, Spanish, UK NGOs and the European Third Sector.

It would be the best occasion for the Social Business School to be officially inaugurated by Mr Yunus!
